Important Legal Notice of a Class Action Authorization and Proposed Settlement
Detailed information, the Long Form (detailed) version of this notice, and updates are available on the Settlement Website at the following address:
<https://AudiPrivacySettlementQC.ca/>.

If you were a former, current, or prospective Audi Canada customer before June 2021, and/or if you received a notice from Audi Canada in or around June 2021 informing you that your personal information may have been compromised in a data incident, your rights may be affected by an authorized class action and proposed settlement.

(Sciscente v. Audi Canada Inc., 500-06-001152-210)

You do not have to do anything and you do not have to pay anything at all in order to participate in the Class Action and/or the proposed Settlement.

On August 1, 2022, the Superior Court of Quebec authorized the bringing of the class action against Audi Canada Inc. ("Audi") further to an alleged data breach of personal information which occurred at some point between August 2019 and May 2021 (the "Class Action").

Although Audi denies any wrongdoing or liability, a proposed settlement was reached with the Plaintiff for the resolution of all claims pertaining to the Class Action (the "Settlement"), subject to approval of the Superior Court of Quebec (the "Court"). To fully settle and release the Class Action and all claims related to the Incident, Audi has agreed to pay an amount of CAD $240,000 into a settlement fund, and agreed to also pay for all costs and expenses required to implement the Settlement.

The proposed Settlement provides for the following benefits for the Settlement Class Members (see below) in exchange for a full release of claims against Audi and other related entities:

- a) First, the reimbursement of out-of-pocket losses, costs, and/or unreimbursed expenses flowing from the Incident and/or from receipt of the Audi notice about the Incident, up to a maximum of CAD $5,000 per claimant;
- b) Second, and if funds remain, a cash payment of up to CAD $200 per claimant.

If the total dollar amount of the claims under the proposed Settlement exceeds the Settlement fund, the value of the claims to be paid to each beneficiary will be proportionally reduced.

You are included in the class action if you reside in Quebec and (a) your personal or financial information held by Audi was compromised in a data breach (data incident) which occurred on or before March 10, 2021, or (ii) you received an email or letter from Audi, dated on or about June 11, 2021, informing you of such a data breach.
